Volume 110, October 2009

Fall ArtWalk Weekend, Oct 17th & 18th

Lancaster's weekend showcase of the arts is coming up on October 17th and 18th at venues throughout Downtown Lancaster. Brought to you by LancasterARTS, the theme for Fall ArtWalk is a FUSION of visual, performing, and culinary arts. The event includes attractions for serious art lovers as well as activities for families and young aspiring artists.

There will be galleries and studios open with artists discussing and demonstrating their craft; live music, dance, and other performing arts in the streets and concert halls; and demonstrations of culinary art for your dining enjoyment. This year's Fall ArtWalk includes special spotlights on tattoo art and dance, behind-the-scenes demonstrations of theatrical special effects, special Segway tours, buskers (street performers), a molten bronze pouring, and opportunities to try your hand at pottery, glass-blowing, and painting! And a new twist, the Arts Crawl Challenge, an opportunity to win prizes for finding artistic treasures around the city. Most Fall ArtWalk activities are free of charge and open to the public, and many of the venues include family-friendly activities. Core hours are Saturday, October 17th from 10 to 5 and Sunday, October 18th from noon to 5, but some activities will begin Friday evening and some will continue into Sunday evening. More details are available at www.LancasterARTS.com.

This Month's Events

Through Oct. 4th: Weekend planetarium shows at the North Museum

Relax under the stars in Central PA's largest planetarium! The North Museum Planetarium (400 College Ave.) features four different shows on astronomy related topics for the youngest stargazer to the seasoned astronomer. Visit www.northmuseum.org for specific show times and descriptions.

Through Nov. 29th: Luigi Rist: Master Printmaker on view at the Demuth Museum

The Demuth Museum's (120 E. King St.) latest exhibition focuses on the print making of Luigi Rist (1888-1959). Trained as a traditional oil painter, Luigi Rist did not begin print making until he was in his forties. He attended an exhibit of traditional Japanese prints that inspired him to learn the traditional woodblock printmaking process. While historically Japanese printmaking was a collaborative effort between artist, block cutter, and printer, Rist performed each element himself, drawing, carving, and printing each of his own works. This exhibit explores Rist's print making techniques and painterly variations by looking at flow sheets and various stages of printing prior to the final image.

Crush

The many details and nuances of Crush (50 W. Grant St.), the new ground level addition to Carr's Restaurant, contribute to a delightful whole. Crush builds on Carr's reputation for excellence in wine with over 20 different wines available by the glass and half-glass. The wine list categorizes these selections by taste, in addition to color and place of origin. Crush offers a small but unique beer selection, highlighting Belgian and German brewing traditions as well as some English and American choices. Crush also offers a selection of four types of absinthe served in traditional reservoir glasses, prepared using the French Method, which releases the flavors and aromas of the absinthe while creating a swirling opalescence in the glass. Crush's tapas menu offers many small plates designed for sharing. Each dish offers plenty of flavor while pairing well with the many drink choices available. Crush's modern interior is decorated in rich tones displaying the work of local artists; here, as on the menu, it is the small touches that add character and charm. Brightly colored sofas mix with glowing benches handmade from recycled wine bottles. The wall of floor-to-ceiling windows creates an excellent backdrop and a fine opportunity for people-watching, right in the center of town. Charming corners for two can easily expand to create a relaxing space for a group of friends. Come by and share good wine, good food, and good stories. Daring Pairings wine and food tasting Thu. Oct. 8th, reservations required. Crush 50 W. Grant St. (717) 299-7090 Open Tue. – Fri. 4 p.m. – 10 p.m. and Sat. Noon -10 p.m. www.carrsrestaurant.com/winebar.cfm.
